Brief Historical Sketch of Detroit

DETROIT was founded by Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac [in July, 1701, and the twenty-one decades of its history have been most interesting.

After the site was chosen, a palisade enclosure was erected and called Fort Pontchartrain, after the minister of Louis IV.

Detroit is one of the few American cities that has been under three flags, two of them twice. The French ruled until 1760, when the English became masters until 1796, General Wayne conquering this region for the new Republic.

In 1813, the English again assumed control, but Commodore Perry's victory at historical Put-in-Bay, near Detroit, gave the entire territory to the United States.

In 1805 Michigan was formed into a territory with Detroit as the Capital, and was admitted to the Union in 1837. The Capital was then moved to Lansing.

Detroit was destroyed by fire in 1805, which was a blessing in disguise, for it resulted in replanning the broad streets, many parks and public squares that comprise the Beautiful City of today.

The rule of Governor and Judges lasted until 1824, when the Legislative Council was elected and chosen.

LOG CABIN—PALMER PARK

DETROIT is the largest summer resort in America, and has for many years been the Mecca for legions of tourists coming from all parts of the nation to enjoy the beauty of its environs, its Island Parks, Inland Lakes, wonderful water trips, and ideal climatic conditions.

Location

Detroit's central location in the middle west, its broad streets and boulevards, its palatial residences, its many wonderful hotels and its safe waterways, where thousands of pleasure boats ply during the summer season, have combined to make it an ideal city in which to hold conventions, assuring a large attendance and happy visitors.

Detroit possesses that rare combination of a city of beauty and one of industry: a class of industry that calls for the world's most skilled workmen; a beauty that has caused visitors to exclaim "TRULY, A CITY WHERE LIFE IS WORTH LIVING."

GRISWOLD STREET

The "Wall Street" of Detroit. On this street are located most of Detroit's financial institutions. The fact that the clearings last year were $2,749,173,375.00 shows the amount of business transacted.

Detroit—A Summer Resort

Detroit has for many years been the objective point of the tourists, who take advantage of the many delightful trips by water, as well as the beautiful inland lakes that are adjacent.

Detroit offers all of the advantages of a summer resort with none of the disadvantages. Climatic conditions are ideal, in the same latitude as Boston, Mass. The cool breezes from the Great Lakes give Detroit an average temperature in the summer time that is not surpassed by many points farther north.

PALMER PARK

Population

With a population of 925,000, Detroit is the fourth city in the United States, and its phenomenal growth within the last ten years has been the marvel of American cities. The metropolitan district within a ten-mile radius of the City Hall, has a population of 1,000,000. In 1900, Detroit had a population of 285,704. In 1910, 462,676. In 1915, 673,498. In 1916, 734,562. In 1918, 925,000.

Belle Island

This famous Island Park owned by the people has no equal in any part of the world for beauty and refined, attractive, educational features.

Its special features include an aquarium with all species of fresh and salt water fish; a horticultural building with plant life gathered from the four corners of the world; one of the best zoological gardens of America; fine bathing beach; public bath house with 900 rooms; yacht and boat clubs; beautiful casinos; miles of canal for boating and magnificent boulevards for autoists; a five and one-half mile shore drive; band concerts and other attractions.

Marine Post Office

The only Marine Post Office in the world is located at Detroit. Here is an interesting sight to see the United States Mail Boat receiving and delivering mail from the stream of immense freighters which are constantly passing. Mail received and distributed by this Marine Post Office equals the amount that would be handled in a city of 50,000.

Palatial steamers ply between Detroit and Belle Isle. Ride all day on these steamers for 15 cents.

The Detroit River

The wonderful Detroit River never goes on a rampage. It remains throughout the year at just about the same level and is as safe as a mill pond. The finest fleet of passenger steamers on fresh water in the world hail from this port. As an evidence that they are popular, it is only necessary to state that during the last season they accommodated more than 12,000,000 passengers, three times as many as sailed from all other Great Lake ports combined—all this without the loss of a single life.

Canada

The resources of this marvelous country—greater than the area of the United States—can scarcely be realized unless a study is made of them.

In visiting Detroit, the great Dominion of Canada may be reached with very little effort on the part of the stranger. A fleet of ferry boats ply between Detroit and the pretty little Canadian city of Windsor, Ontario.

Canada has always been a Mecca for visitors who are desirous of taking a trip “abroad” and mailing back the irresistible post card.

Here soldiers in uniform of the King may be seen on every hand foreign flags and customs are most interesting to visitors from the United States.

The schools are governed by an Educational Board, consisting of seven members (women eligible) elected at large. There are 131 public schools and 75 private schools, 2,939 teachers, with 104,437 pupils. During the present year, in the neighborhood of $6,000,000 will be expended in educational activity. Among the well-known educational institutions are:

Financial Figures

This has done away with the establishment of the small outlying banks which have been a source of weakness to practically all of the large cities of the country.

Detroit has 13 State Banks, 3 National Banks and 4 Trust Companies. The aggregate resources of the twenty institutions are in excess of $429,143,000.00.

1918 FORD MOTOR COMPANY

This great plant turns out a complete motor car every twenty-nine seconds, and in conjunction with its branch factories, has a record of making 3866 cars in one day of eight hours. Between 29,000 and 42,000 men are regularly employed in this plant.

Industrial Growth

Detroit is one of the few cities of the world that is known as a city of beauty and at the same time as one of industry. The combination of these features has resulted in the development of the expression "Detroit The Dynamic." While Detroit is by no means dependent in its industrial activity upon the manufacture of the automobile, which comprises about 48% of Detroit's industrial life, yet this is probably the most interesting manufactured product in the world today.

FOUR OF THE FIVE PLANTS OPERATED BY THE CADILLAC MOTOR CAR CO.

Capital employed, more than $10,000,000.00.

Value of cars produced more than 265 millions.

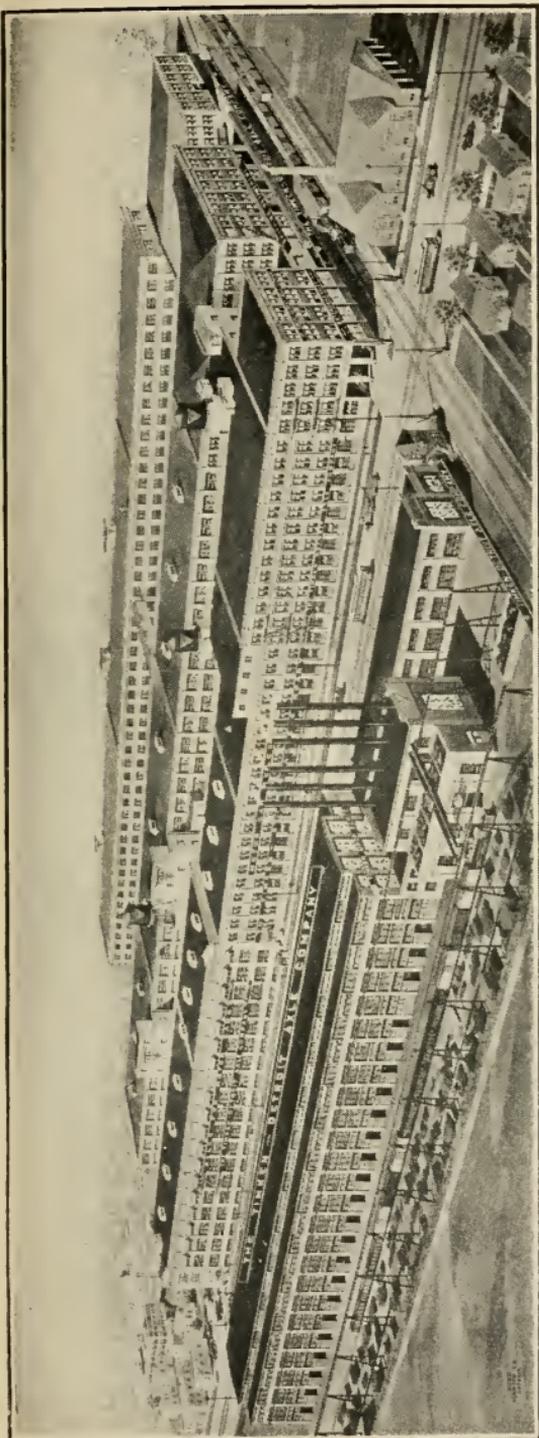

Area of plant more than 35 acres.

Number of employes more than 7,000.

Number of mechanical operations on current model car accurate to 1-1000 part of an inch—more than 1,000.

It is estimated that Detroit and its immediate vicinity produce 85% of the automobiles manufactured in America and with thirty automobile manufacturers, one hundred and twenty automobile accessory plants, Detroit certainly has earned the title of "THE AUTOMOBILE CITY OF THE WORLD."

Thirty factories in this city are producers of motor cars and trucks. The few illustrated herein are leaders taken from the many. It is conservatively estimated that 1,000,000 cars were built in Detroit during the past year. The value of this immense output is something over $650,000,000.

TIMKEN-DETROIT AXLE CO.

It is estimated that more than 2,000,000 people in America are dependent upon the automobile industry for a livelihood. Four hundred and fifty factories, located in thirty-two different states are producing motor vehicles, and the most successful and best-known manufacturers are users of the Timken-Detroit Axles. Four immense manufacturing plants, covering a total of 46 acres, are required to produce Timken-Detroit front and rear axles for passenger cars, and front and worm-drive rear axles for commercial vehicles, making it the largest industry of its kind in the world.

The accessory plants total more than a hundred and twenty, drawn hither from all parts of the world to be near the central market. Here also untold wealth is produced every hour in the day.

The capital invested in the auto industry here is something like $600,000,000, and the total number of employes 250,000. The latest government statistics place these men as the highest paid mechanics in the world, which spells p-r-o-s-p-e-r-i-t-y.

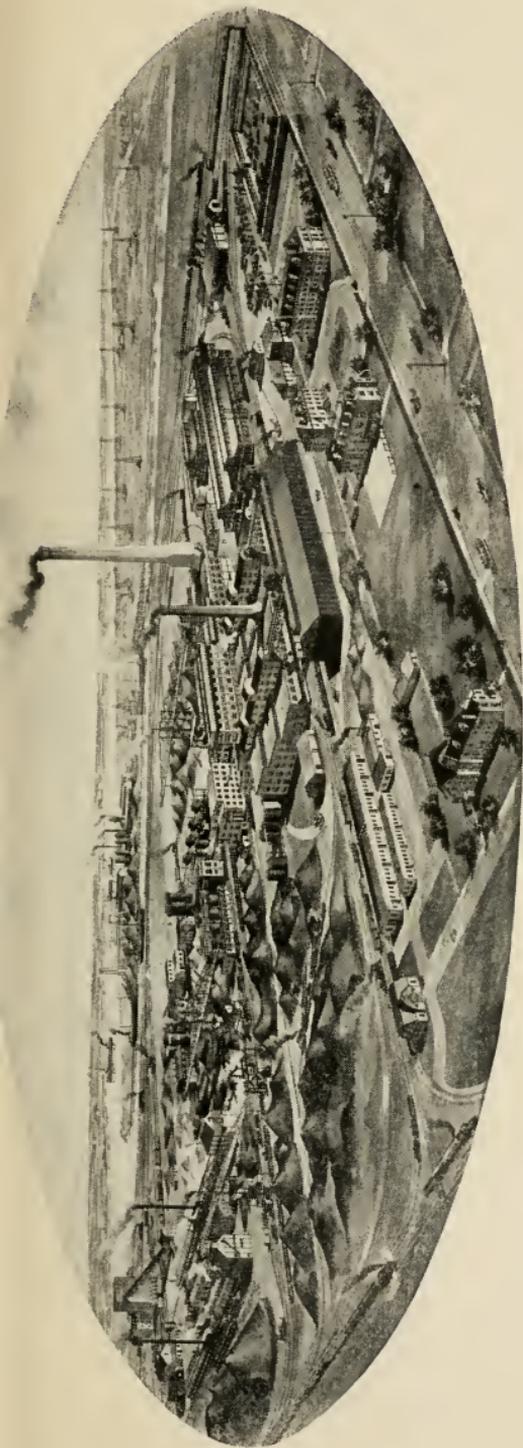

HOME OF THE HUDSON SUPER-SIX

One of the most modern industrial plants in America is that of the Hudson Motor Car Company, reached by Jefferson Avenue cars.

Few people realize the immensity and stability of this great industry, and for that reason all Detroit visitors are requested to devote some of their spare time to going through some of these modern plants, which have no superior in the manufacturing world on this or any other continent. Covering acres upon acres of ground, all filled with modern machinery.

Diversified Industries

Industry in Detroit is widely diversified and has 2700 manufacturing industries. The city has thirty different classes of manufacturing concerns that have an annual production of more than $1,000,000 each.

PLANT OF THE SOLVAY PROCESS AND SEMET-SOLVAY COMPANIES

The Solvay Process Company, manufacturers of soda products of various kinds, is one of the largest and most important industries of this city. The Semet-Solvay Company operates 180 by-product coke ovens, which produce approximately 800,000 tons of coke per year and a surplus of 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. The development of this coke industry has caused an increase in the iron furnace business in Detroit.
